

Firefox, the Web, and the Future

John Lilly, CEO

Mike Shaver, VP Engineering

September 16, 2009

about:Mozilla

1. a global, open source project
2. a community of thousands of creators
3. a (small) non-profit company
4. the maker of Firefox & Thunderbird

about:Mozilla

Mozilla's Mission: To promote choice and innovation on the Internet

about:Mozilla

- Mozilla project started in 1998 within Netscape
- Mozilla Foundation started in 2003
- approximately 225 employees in 20 countries
- 40% of code contributed by non-employees
- testing community of 20,000+
- current reach is more than 310 million users

Firefox Market Share (July 2009)

Growth is global: 2/3 outside of United States

Growth & Milestones

- 1 billion downloads
- Over 310 million users
- Majority browser in Poland, Indonesia, others
- > 75 languages

Firefox® 3.5

1. Released June 30, 2009
2. Twice as fast as Firefox 3
3. Thousands of improvements over 3.0
4. Support for open video & other web tech

Coming Soon

Firefox 3.6 (November 2009)

Personas, Windows 7 Integration, performance gains

Firefox 3.7 (Spring 2010)

UI Refresh, new extension capabilities, more performance!

Firefox 4.0 (Fall 2010)

Multi-process architecture for responsiveness & security, additional extension model (Jetpack), major UI overhaul, and even more performance!

Fennec

- Same Gecko rendering engine, but for mobile
- Supports Firefox add-ons
- Flash Support
- New touch screen UI
- Optimized for small screens

Current Projects at Mozilla Labs

mozilla LABS
Weave

Cloud services for browsers

Recreating the UI

mozilla LABS
Jetpack

New & simpler ways to extend Firefox

mozilla LABS
Bespin

Developer tools

hack

Make the Web yours.

Questions & Discussion

lilly@mozilla.com

All content CC-Attribution

Thanks & apologies & materials borrowed from:
Mike Beltzner, Chris Beard, the Mozilla Community

